Tel Aviv Under Virtual Arrest As Hunt Begins

JERUSALEM (CP)—British troops placed the 200,000 residents of the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv under virtual house arrest at dawn today as they opened a prolonged and deliberate round-up aimed at finding the persons who bombed the King David Hotel in Jerusalem last week.

The entire city was placed under a 22-hour-a-day curfew, with residents forbidden, under pain of being shot on sight, to leave their homes except during an authorized two-hour period for purchasing food and other supplies.

(Reuters' News Agency reported more than 16,000 British troops involved in today's mass comb-out and that operations, under the 6th Airborne "Red Devils of Arnhem" Division commander might last five days).

Li-Gen Sir Alan Cunningham, British High Commissioner for the troubled Holy Land, said the British had "clear evidence of the existence of terrorists in Tel Aviv and that some, if not all, of those who took part in the Jerusalem crime came from that town." Eighty-seven bodies have been recovered from the bombed hotel and 24 persons are missing.

MAY ARREST 3,000

Officials predicted the Tel Aviv search would result in the arrest of 2,000 to 3,000 men and women. The searchers also were believed to be seeking arms caches and clandestine radio transmitters operated by such Jewish underground organizations as Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern Gang, whose members, an army officer said, were the principal objects of the round-up.

It was the second time in a month that the city had been placed under rigid curfew restrictions. A month ago Jewish institutions in Tel Aviv were occupied and searched and the residents of the city were held under curfew for 24 hours.

Under the terms of the present curfew the residents are not permitted to go near their windows nor on their balconies and must stay inside their homes despite the sweltering heat on the coastal plain. The Tel Aviv beach, usually teeming with thousands seeking relief from the heat, was deserted.

TOUR BY REPORTERS

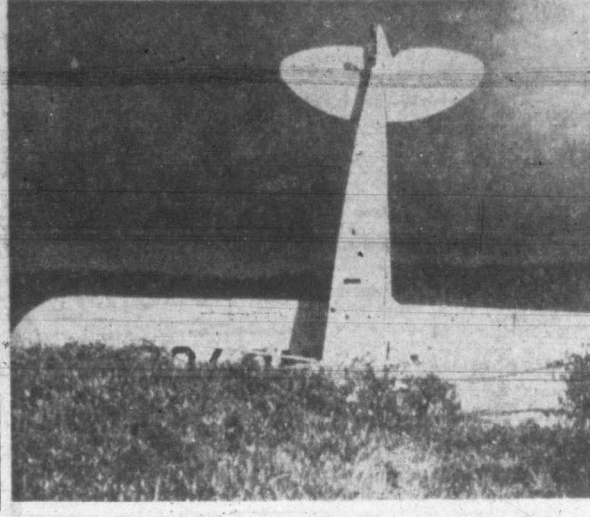

All curfew passes, such as those issued to newspapermen, were revoked, although the British army conducted a tour of the city for some two dozen foreign correspondents from Jerusalem. The imposition of the curfew meant Palestine would be without Hebrew newspapers for some days and all telephone communication from Tel Aviv was stopped.

Roadblocks were set up at all the city's exits and no vessels of any kind were to be allowed to leave Tel Aviv's harbor during the period of the search.

Above is shown the wreckage of the Harvard trainer which crashed in a forest seven miles from Ottawa, causing the deaths of Cpl. K. G. Hatt, formerly of Victoria, and FO. T. A. Seeman of Ottawa. (See item page 2.)

Another plane wreck, this one 80 miles northwest of Fort Nelson, B.C., is shown above. Its nose dive into the ground has killed trackers, reinforced by police, searching for Joe Barber of Jamestown, N.Y., who was flying the plane when it met disaster.

All Lightning Fires Controlled On Island

B.C. Forest Service headquarters here today expected no difficulty with the few fires on Vancouver Island still burning after Sunday's lightning storm which set a total of 27 blazes in the forests of the province, all in the coast area.

All of the 27 fires today were either extinguished or well under control. One at Jordan River was reported well under control today. It is on or near the logging operations of the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber & Timber Co. Ltd., burning on logged-off land.

Forest protection officers today reported the atmospheric and fuel humidity as higher than normal for this time of year, showers which hit Victoria Monday night having been widespread on the island.

The extreme hazard of last week has been ended.

The lightning-started fires were along the entire route of the storm which hit the island first in the Jordan River area, moved over Lake Cowichan, Nanaimo, Cameron Lake, Parksville, Texada Island and struck the mainland in the neighborhood of Howe Sound.

Loss Estimated At $1,700,000 In Wake Of Unusual Hailstorm In Okanagan

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Damage totaling $1,700,000 was caused by the hailstorm that struck this area late Monday, it was estimated today by B. C. Tree Fruits Ltd., marketing agency for Okanagan Valley fruit.

Hailstones as big as eggs severely damaged fruits and vegetables of this farm area. It was the most damaging storm in the district's history.

B. C. Tree Fruits estimated 1,160,000 packages of apples, peaches, pears, crabapples and apricots were destroyed as well as large amounts of ground crops such as tomatoes, cucumbers and onions.

LOSSES BY DISTRICTS

The official estimate of damage to the Kelowna, Summerland, Okanagan, Mission, Rutland and Winfield areas follows:

Pears, 10 per cent or 80,000 boxes;

Peaches, 10 per cent or 170,000 boxes;

Pears, 15 per cent or 85,000 boxes;

Crabapples, 5 per cent or 10,000 boxes;

Apricots, 10 per cent or 40,000 boxes;

Apples, 10 per cent or 775,000 boxes.

The great percentage of the tomato, onion and cucumber crops in this area were in the line of the storm and it was estimated the mature green tomato crop is at least 50 per cent destroyed. Seed onion stands were cut off clean.

Farmers stood by helpless. A check showed the storm missed the Penticton area, struck

Summerland, a few miles farther up the lake, missed the Peachland district and then cut a swath across Lake Okanagan to Okanagan Mission. It then swept in a northeasterly direction, dropping its missiles in the East Kelowna, Glenmore, Rutland and Winfield areas.

Residents of Kelowna were amazed at the size of the hailstones. The icy crystals in some cases weighed more than two ounces and took more than two hours to melt.

Prunes in the Kelowna area, which would not have been ready for marketing for a month, were reduced to shreds. Tender skins of apricots were bashed beyond recognition.

The storm, which lasted only 15 minutes, abated almost as suddenly as it had started.

An official of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. said few fruit farmers carried hail insurance and many would suffer heavy personal loss.

While there were no reports of serious injury, men working in the fields and orchards suffered minor cuts and bruises when they dashed for shelter as the storm struck with sudden violence.

Hailstones as large as eggs, from an inch to an inch and a half in diameter, crashed through greenhouses and shattered fruit, boughs and leaves from trees.

At Summerland, considerable damage was caused to homes as hailstones broke glass. Telephone and electric light lines were downed at a number of spots and road traffic brought to a halt during the downpour. (Earlier Story Page 3)

Four Firemen Lose Lives As Hotel Burns In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Fire which swept through a downtown hotel here early today killed four firemen before it was brought under control in a three-hour battle by a large concentration of equipment and men.

About 240 guests were warned before the flames shot upward from the Herbert Hotel basement, and all were reported to have escaped, most of them clad in night dress. Some were treated for smoke effects.

Acting Fire Chief Martin Kearns through his office announced one fatality and that three others were missing in the raging blaze.

Charles Lynch, 29, fireman, was dragged lacerated and unconscious from his post and died in an ambulance on the way to an emergency hospital.

Kearns said that at least 20 firemen were overcome by smoke and that some of them required hospital treatment.

CHICAGO (AP)—William Heirens, 17-year-old University of Chicago student, today formally confessed the kidnapping and dismemberment of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan, State Attorney William J. Tuohy announced. The youth's attorneys said he would follow this up later in the day with "full confessions" of the "lipstick murder" of Frances Brown, 33-year-old former Wave, and Mrs. Josephine Ross, 43, widow.

Five Killed In Crash

Big 4 Consider Opinions Of All Attlee States

PARIS (AP)—The rules committee of the Paris Peace Conference, of which Canada's Prime Minister King is a member, decided unanimously today to open its meetings to the press of the world and recommended that newspapermen be admitted to all general sessions of the 21-power conference.

This featured the committee session, which was followed later in the day by a full session of the 21-power group which was addressed by Prime Minister Attlee and U.S. Secretary of State Byrnes.

Mr. Byrnes proposed the action to give the press free access to the proceedings of the conference, which will consider the treaties for Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland.

He was supported by V. M. Molotov, Russia's Foreign Minister, and the Australian Minister of Foreign Affairs, Dr. H. V. Evatt.

Paul Henri Spaak, Belgian Foreign Minister, was elected chairman of the committee 13 to 7 over Edward Kardelj of Yugoslavia, with one abstention. Mr. Spaak was nominated by Dr. Evatt; Mr. Kardelj by Mr. Molotov.

Mr. Kardelj was chosen vice-chairman on the suggestion of the United States.

The delegates took no action on the explosive question of whether a simple majority or the two-thirds rule would govern further voting of the committee. A member of the British delegation said the committee had not reached the subject, which was raised originally by Dr. Evatt in the open full conference session Monday.

Other speakers were Foreign Minister Molotov, Dr. Evatt of Australia, and Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Shih-chieh.

Meanwhile, controversies were shaping up on four questions which also caused headaches to the Big Four Foreign Ministers—navigation on the Danube River, the disposition of Italian colonies, final settlement of the Italian-Yugoslav border and Balkan reparations.

These questions will come first before special commissions dealing with individual peace treaties, and then before the conference as a whole. After the issues are decided, the conference will make its recommendations to the Big Four, which is to determine the final terms of the treaties.

Rate Structures Being Studied To Set Island Power Schedules

B.C. Power Commission, supplying more than 13,000 consumers, is now studying rate structures so that revised schedules may be instituted as soon as prices the commission will pay for old and new plants has been set and the capacity of these plants increased to cover the expected increase in demand for power at the lower rates.

This was announced today by Premier John Hart as he released the first annual report of the commission.

The commission, to meet the power demands on Vancouver Island, is developing eventually 150,000 horsepower at Campbell River. A preliminary survey of the Whatshan power site at Needles on Arrow Lake has been made, while, in certain of the smaller power districts the feasibility of hydro-electric plants is being investigated, the Premier said.

In other areas where hydro-electric development is not practical, standard diesel plants, interchangeable with one another, have been designed.

It is understood the new rate structure, when adopted, will be made retroactive to the time the power commission took over various companies by expropriation. Former consumers of Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities Ltd. power on Vancouver Island will thus receive rebates dated back to Aug. 1, 1945, if this policy is followed.

In the first eight months of operation the commission reported an operating surplus of $329,219. This sum does not include provision for rate stabilization reserve and interest and sinking funds payable on properties which have been expropriated, but on which valuations are pending.

The Premier also said agreements had been approved for the following: Alberni, Ashcroft, Barnhart Vale, Barriere, Camp Lister-Huscroft, Canal Flats, Chase, Fort St. James, Gulf Islands, Hazelton, Houston, Kamloops, Merritt, Prince George, Princeton, Rock Creek, Sirdar, Ucluelet, Yank and Zeballos.

Producers' Initial Wheat Price Increased 10 Cents a Bushel

OTTAWA (CP)—In a news-packed announcement for prairie wheat producers, Trade Minister MacKinnon today told the Commons the initial payment for wheat has been lifted to $1.35 a bushel. The pegged export price of $1.55 has been removed on all sales except those to Britain and the Canadian Wheat Board will be continued in operation.

In a 1,000-word statement on wheat policy for western Canada, Mr. MacKinnon disclosed:

1. The initial price to western producers has been raised 10 cents a bushel to $1.35, retroactive to Aug. 1, 1945, and will remain at this level until July 31, 1950.

2. The 1946-47 deliveries, which were based on the old rate of $1.25, will be brought up to the $1.35 basis by payment to producers of a flat 10 cents a bushel on all grades.

3. The participation payment on the 1944 crop will be "upwards of 16 cents per bushel."

4. The pegged export price of $1.55 a bushel has been removed and on sales to non-contract countries—those other than Britain—a "serious" effort will be made to sell at prices "roughly corresponding" to those of the United States, now more than $2.

5. The Canadian Wheat Board will be continued in operation as the sole marketing agency for Canadian wheat.

6. The domestic wheat price of $1.25 will be continued, with the government continuing its payment of a draw-back to millers covering the difference between 77½ cents and $1.25 a bushel on wheat used in Canada for human consumption.

All prices in Mr. MacKinnon's announcement were on the basis of No. 1 Northern in store Fort William, Port Arthur or Vancouver.

Mr. MacKinnon referred to the recently-signed contract with the United Kingdom, under which Britain will buy 600,000,000 bushels in a four-year period and then said of the export price:

"With regard to export prices, the supplies for the United Kingdom will obviously be sold with in the terms of the contract."

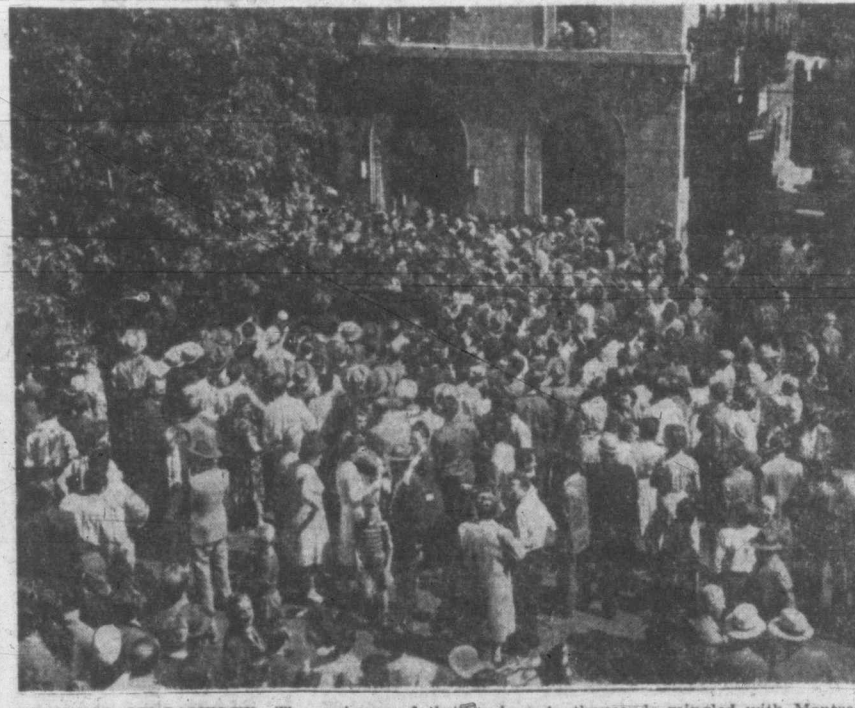

"In sales to non-contract countries, a serious effort will be made to sell at prices roughly corresponding to those of the

$2,500 For Service Contractor States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Elvino Anderson, Tacoma, Wash., contractor, testified today that he gave $2,500 in 1941 to the secretary of Rep. John Coffee (Dem., Wash.), "because of the service I expected to get" from Coffee in the capital.

Anderson denied at the same time that he had paid for "influence" or had any thought of making a campaign contribution. Coffee has called the $2,500 a campaign contribution.

Anderson told the U.S. Senate war investigating committee that he did not know whether Coffee received any of the money and had not interested himself in that question.

On War Preparations

TOKYO (AP)—The international tribunal trying Japan's war leaders was told today that five Japanese government ministers decided in 1936 "to eradicate the Soviet menace" in the north and at the same time prepare against Britain and America.

These policies were quoted from a Japanese government document entitled "Important Decisions on International and National Policies," introduced by the prosecution. It said they were to be carried out in such a manner that Japan could have "friendly relations with other countries."

Shediac People
Ready To Leave
As Fire Comes Near

MONCTON, N.B., (CP)—Residents of the Northumberland Strait resort town of Shediac were ready to move out today as a raging forest fire edged closer to the community of more than 2,000 inhabitants.

With menacing flames leaping high across the Scoudouc River, three special trains were held in readiness to evacuate townspeople and summer resort colonists.

Yesterday, motor launches were used to carry to safety 35 girl campers after two camps had been destroyed. Buildings on three farms and almost the whole of a summer colony of 22 cottages were reported burned.

Although reports from the fire areas were incomplete, there was no news of casualties.

Forty miles north of Shediac, another fire menaced the lumbering village of Richibucto, but subsiding winds Monday night gave weary fire-fighters a temporary rest.

Forest rangers said only a heavy rain could stop the flames, but weather reports promised nothing more than scattered thundershowers. Most of the property damage reported was on a neck of land jutting into Northumberland Strait from the Shediac area. But property damage was light compared with the vast area of timberland consumed.

China Considers

The C.P.R. Monday reported its first deliveries of the season.

The grain, weighing 63 pounds to the bushel and grading No. 1 Northern Hard, came from the farm of L. K. Leck of Purple Springs, a few miles west of Burdette. The crop yield is not known, but is expected to be "slightly above average."

The new bill intended to broaden powers of the National Housing Act and given second reading in the House of Commons Monday is expected to have little effect on Victoria, either in allowing smaller income groups to build, or in easing the present housing shortage.

V. L. Leigh, building contractor and chairman of the Victoria Builders' Exchange, said the changes would not make any difference to the builders here as long as the present building materials shortages existed.

He wanted to see the government issue a directive diverting building materials to house construction and away from construction of amusement centres, at least.

He expressed the fear that when building materials did begin to flow in, government-sponsored housing enterprises would get priorities on plumbing, wiring and other building hardware now urgently needed by other builders.

He also believed that when sufficient materials became available, workers should be diverted from other heavy construction work to home construction to meet present shortages.

Maj. H. C. Holmes, president of Pemberton, Holmes Ltd., and president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said: "So far as this area is concerned, the contractors and the manpower are available and capable of making a good job of providing new housing. The hitch seems to be that some housing materials are not available."

He pointed out that proposed extension of the loan period from 20 to 25 years would be of very little benefit to the would-be homeowner. The extension of five years would only make a difference of 77 cents a month per $1,000 borrowed, he said.

In other words, a man taking a $3,000 loan under N.H.A. for the 25-year period would only pay $2.31 a month less than if he had borrowed for the 20-year period and was still faced with an additional 60 months of payment to complete repayment of the loan.

"The government might confine itself to meeting the demand for those materials in which a shortage exists," Maj. Holmes said.

Maj. Holmes also believed private enterprise was best able to provide housing in the least time and at the least expense and with the maximum suitability to those wanting homes.

The bill's proposal to extend lending facilities to lumbering and mining companies for the building of family units in outlying areas adjacent to on-site operations, Maj. Holmes approved of in part.

It appeared the shortage of labor in lumber and mining camps was often due to lack of homes to which men could take their families, he said, and any steps to overcome this were therefore good. The proposal had its disadvantages, however, and there might be some losses, he added.

Maj. Holmes also commented on the bill's proposed authorization of loans up to $5,000 for the building of farm homes. There had been considerable difficulty in this area in getting investment companies to put up money for farm loans, he said. Private money had been available, however, he added, though such loans had not been as popular as loans for city residences largely owing to the uncertainty of farmers' incomes.

Carol Drake describes complete-meal salads

Make summertime salad-time by including whole meal salads on your menu frequently during the week. If you make the salads substantial enough by adding hard cooked egg, seafood, cold chicken or meat or cheese, as well as garden fresh vegetables, then all you'll need to complete the menu is a dessert.

SUPER SUPPER SALAD—Combine 1 cup flaked seafood, chopped leftover chicken or meat with 1 cup cooked peas, 1 cup sliced, sliced radishes and green onion (tops and all) to taste, and 2 or 3 sliced, hard-cooked eggs. Season with 1/2 tsp. salt and 1/2 tsp. sugar. Toss in salad dressing seasoned with a bit of mustard. Serve on lettuce or cabbage leaves. Garnish with tomato wedges. Serves 6 plentifully.

KIDNEY BEAN AND VEGETABLE SALAD—Drain and chill 1 medium-size can of kidney or baked beans. Combine 1 cup shredded cabbage, 2 or 3 tomatoes cut in wedges, 2 or 3 chopped green onions, tops and all, 1 cucumber finely diced. Season with salt and pepper. Add beans and toss in a tart dressing. Serve in lettuce cups or on shredded mixed greens. Serves 6.

HAVE YOU EVER TRIED shredding raw new turnips or beets in a salad? Raw cauliflower is delectable too, sliced paper-thin or shredded.

Jobless Benefits Down

OTTAWA (CP)—Claims for unemployment insurance benefit in Canada continued declining in June, with 30,646 claims against 34,777 in May, 35,781 in April and 10,857 in June, 1945, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The number of live claims also was on the decrease with 82,382 at June 30 compared with 98,810 at the end of May, 123,950 at April 30, and 17,242 June 30 last year.

During June 103,231 persons received $4,272,995 for 2,243,727 compensated unemployed days compared with 127,865 paid $5,221,870 for 2,719,294 days in May and 16,921 paid $579,326 for 303,443 days in June, 1945.

Commission To Hear Jap Claims Blocked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Objection by Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep. Mich.) in the Senate Monday blocked a vote on legislation to create a commission under the Secretary of the Interior to hear claims of U.S. citizens of Japanese ancestry for damages resulting from their wartime evacuation from the West Coast, Alaska and Hawaii.

Senator Ferguson contended the courts, not the Interior Department, should hear claims.

Montreal To Seek Free Port Privileges

MONTREAL (CP)—Civic officials said they plan to ask the Dominion government to pass legislation authorizing establishment of a free port in Montreal.

In eastern Canada, similar free port movements are already afoot in Halifax and Quebec.

A free port is one in which merchants of all nations may load and unload goods, unaffected by the country's customs regulations as long as the goods remain in the free port area.

Body Found In Canyon

HOPE, B.C. (CP)—The body of a man believed to be Buster Wells, Canadian National Railway patrolman, was found in the Fraser Canyon, eight miles west of here Monday. The police are probing the cause of his death.

Wells was patrolling the track Sunday and his abandoned speeder was found at Squeah, eight miles from Hope. Later the body was found in the canyon, a 60-foot sheer drop from where the speeder was found. It is thought he may have become dizzy and toppled into the canyon.

Canadians Work for Successful Floating Of Peace Conference

By ROSS MUNRO
PARIS (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King left this morning's session of the Peace Conference committee on procedure at Luxembourg Palace and went to the Arc de Triomphe, where he placed a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Following the brief ceremony immediately to the palace and rejoined the procedural committee, which was still in session.

DELEGATES MEET

Monday night the Canadian delegation to the peace talks held a special meeting to consider the exact position it must take over the challenge that the outspoken Australian Minister of External Affairs, Dr. Herbert F. Evatt, threw at the Big Four during the opening session of the conference Monday which, in effect, amounted to challenging the right of the Foreign Ministers to reserve for themselves the making of the final peace settlement.

The Canadian delegates probably are inclined to agree in principle with Dr. Evatt, but would not go as far as the Australian minister is going in opposing decisions by Moscow to the conference that the "small 17" invited here could only make recommendations to the Big Four and the latter would write the final treaty texts with Italy, the Balkan States and Finland.

The Canadians may take the position that European peace is impossible without Russia, which insists on following the letter of the Moscow declaration, and without being appeasers it is better to accept this reality and work for co-operation rather than provoke diplomatic conflict before the peace conference really gets under way.

Dr. Evatt created a single sensation during the opening session when he suddenly strode to the rostrum in the gilded-domed senate chamber of the Luxembourg Palace and indicated he opposed the two-thirds vote for questions of substance as proposed by the Foreign Ministers.

OUNDED TABLE

Dr. Evatt got to the heart of his viewpoint when he thumped on the table and said 17 countries have just as much right to participate in the final making of the peace as the Big Four. "I don't want there to be any mistake about that," Dr. Evatt emphasized.

Apart from this one discordant note the conference opened smoothly before packed galleries. Prime Minister King followed Prime Minister Attlee into the chamber and took his place with Health Minister Claxton and the other Canadian delegates in the centre of the hall immediately in front of the British delegation.

Okanagan Fruit Crop Suffers Loss In Widespread Hailstorm

KELOWNA (CP)—Damage of thousands of dollars was suffered late Monday by Okanagan Valley fruit growers when a hailstorm, termed the worst in the history of the district, swept through a wide area.

The storm cut through the districts of Winfield, Rutland, Glenmore, Kelowna, Okanagan Mission and Summerland, where the damage was extensive.

An early survey showed that in the Kelowna area alone the apple crop will be reduced by nearly 1,000,000 boxes. Pears and prunes are likewise affected, while apricot and peach crops may be a total loss.

Some of the hailstones that pelted the heavily-laden fruit trees were from an inch to an inch and a half in diameter and weighed nearly three ounces.

Many greenhouses were ruined, window glass smashed, boughs

Seattle Pin-Swallowing Attempt At Suicide

SEATTLE (AP)—A 19-year-old former Canadian servicewoman, who swallowed an open safety pin last week in what U.S. Marshal C. S. Denise described as a suicide attempt, was returned to the county jail from the hospital Monday without the pin.

The pin landed in Katherine Kosta's stomach with the point up. After a few days in the hospital the pin was gone.

Miss Kosta was sentenced July 19 to nine months in jail for illegal entry into the United States at Blaine, Assistant U.S. Attorney Allan Pomeroy said she entered in an automobile trunk.

At the jail the superintendent ordered all safety pins kept out of her reach—for safety's sake.

Nuernberg Won't Pay Ley's Funeral Costs

NUERNBERG (AP)—City of Nuernberg served notice Monday it is unwilling to bear the $4.09 cost of the funeral of Robert Ley, Nazi labor boss who hanged himself in jail before the war crimes trial started last November.

The city's council, which is unwilling to pay the funeral costs, said it was unwilling to pay the funeral costs of a man who had committed suicide.

Calgary Inquest

CALGARY (CP)—Inquest into the death of six-year-old Donnie Goss, victim of a sex killer in what police describe as the city's most brutal murder, was adjourned indefinitely Monday.

About the time a coroner's jury was viewing the knife-scarred and battered body, copies of a circular describing the murder and suspects were being mailed to all parts of the Dominion.

St. Laurent Holds Shugar's Evidence Should Be Secret

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister St. Laurent said Monday in the Commons he could not make public a transcript of evidence given by Dr. David Shugar before the Royal Commission on Espionage, because part of that evidence dealt with secret technical data which it was not in the public interest to disclose at this time.

He spoke on a motion of John Diefenbaker, P.C., Lake Centre, Sask., calling for production of the evidence.

Mr. St. Laurent, replying to M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said he would have no objection to a small committee of the House going over the evidence with him providing the members agreed to keep the evidence confidential. Mr. Diefenbaker said he could not support such a committee because it would only add "secrecy to secrecy."

Dr. Shugar was among those named in the Royal Commission report as having agreed to participate in Russian-directed espionage activities. Dr. Shugar was acquitted in magistrate's court on conspiracy charges laid as a result of an interim report of the commission.

Mr. St. Laurent announced recently that law officers now were studying the final report to decide whether new action should be instituted against Dr. Shugar.

Meantime on the basis of the final report, Dr. Schugar has been given his dismissal notice by the health department, where he was employed after his discharge from the navy.

Prime Minister King Will Visit Germany

PARIS (CP)—Prime Minister King said he plans to visit Dieppe Sunday, Aug. 18, when France will hold a ceremony commemorating the fourth anniversary of the bloody raid by the Canadian 2nd Division, Aug. 19, 1942.

Mr. King, here for the Peace Conference, probably will place a cornerstone for a new monument to the Canadians and visit the hillside cemetery where Canadian dead are buried.

After the conference Mr. King is determined to visit Germany and see conditions there for himself.

"I feel it imperative I go to Germany," he said.

Employees Reject Winnipeg Wage Offer

WINNIPEG (CP)—An offer of a six-cent-an-hour wage increase, made by the Winnipeg Electric Company to its employees was rejected at a mass meeting of the Federated Council of Winnipeg Electric Employees, One Big Union, here Monday night.

A motion calling for a strike ballot was tabled to await further developments while the negotiating committee continues its efforts to obtain a "more satisfactory agreement."

Should the committee fail in its efforts to reach such an agreement, it will pass on the decision regarding a strike to the members of the federation, and a vote will be taken on possible action.

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. Anna Smith Ober, who had both legs amputated several years ago because of poor circulation, celebrated her 100th birthday Monday. She is still active in civic and church affairs.

Varied Suggestions Offered As House Advances Housing Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's housing program, and its record in that field, came under fire Monday as the Commons gave clause-by-clause study to a bill to broaden the powers of the National Housing Act.

The criticism came from both Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. speakers, who generally agreed the legislation was effective in itself, but contended it was being introduced far too late to assist a situation that was worsening gradually and showed no signs of improvement in the immediate future.

Reconstruction Minister Howe, piloting the measure, explained the government's plans to stimulate building and the production of the required materials and agreed to amend the bill to grant to fisheries companies to build homes for their workers. These loans already were planned for lumber and mining companies.

He declined, however, to meet requests of C.C.F. members that loans be granted to co-operatives formed for the sole purpose of building houses because they would be without "substance" and said individual members would do better to apply for loans on a personal basis. Co-operatives with other income, however, would be eligible for loans.

The bill was approved in committee and will be given third and final reading later, possibly tomorrow.

URGENT GOVERNMENT COMPANIES

During Monday's debate C.C.F. members, saying the government should realize by now that private enterprise would not build the houses needed, urged crown companies be established to fill the housing needs in the same way as public corporations helped meet the needs of war.

Progressive Conservative members suggested private enterprise be allowed to build the houses, but asked that it be given more assistance in doing the job. They and James Sinclair, Lib., North Vancouver, called for a revision of lumber price ceilings and for steps to encourage the production of building materials.

LI-COL. Cecil Merritt, V.C., P.C., Vancouver-Burrard, said existing price ceilings were discouraging the production of such things as flooring, doors and laths. He called for a revision of the price schedule.

Howard Green, P.C., Vancouver South, urged the question of wholesale and retail lumber prices be carefully considered by a representative body.

E. D. Fulton, P.C., Kamloops, said the government should leave the building to those who know how to build and confine itself to administering a policy that will encourage home construction and the production of materials.

Supply Shortage Holds Up Building At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—A building program here estimated in millions of dollars is being delayed owing to shortages of all types of building supplies, according to 15 local contractors who met to discuss proposals to meet difficulties presented by today's market conditions.

Thor Peterson, president of the B.C. Contractors Association, detailed some of the obstacles in bringing a building to completion. Contractors are shopping everywhere in an endeavor to obtain cement.

There are few plumbing fixtures on the market and the priorities needed for these goods are only available to ex-service men. Soil pipe is an important item that cannot be supplied. Mr. Peterson continued. It is almost impossible to buy nails on account of the recent steel strike he said.

Electrical material is another "short" line. There is very little wiring and practically no conduit.

To add to these difficult conditions one of the local mills is refusing to sell lumber except in cases where it is being used for housing. But there is much essential commercial building underway, and the outlook on bringing a house to completion is not good.

R. A. Fletcher today tendered to fill in bridges on the Ucluelet-Tofino Road for $8,513. His was the only tender submitted to the Provincial Works Department which called for bids some time ago.

$1,500,000 Fish Cargo

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—The motorship Palisana, of the Alaska Transportation Company, under command of Capt. Clark Hare, has just brought the largest and most valuable single fish cargo ever to come out of southeastern Alaska to Prince Rupert.

Capt. Hare estimated the value of the cargo at $1,500,000, consisting of some 55 carloads, 22 of which were discharged here for rail shipment to Chicago in a special refrigerator car train.

It was the largest single shipment of Alaska fish ever to be made through Prince Rupert. The balance of the cargo—23 cars of frozen fish and 10 cars of livers and viscera—will be taken to Seattle.

Comox Board May Get Sandwich Army Huts For School Purposes

COMOX—Some of the buildings at Sandwich military camp near here have been declared surplus, J. L. Gibson, M.P., for Comox-Alberni riding informed school board of District 71 and advised them to obtain necessary seating equipment, in order to be ready, should permission to use buildings for school purposes come through.

Mr. Gibson said he could not state definitely that the school board could have the use of some of the buildings. However, the board considered his letter sufficient to base action upon.

Desks will be collected from schools where they will not be required for the next term.

Aussie Gas Rationing To End Late This Year

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Gasoline rationing, introduced in Australia in 1940 as an emergency wartime measure, is expected to end towards the close of the year.

Newspapers and motorists' organizations are demanding immediate abolition, but the government's view is that rationing will be needed for some months yet to conserve dollar funds.

The government, however, has introduced some compensations to the continuance of the scheme. It has increased the gasoline ration all round by one-third a month, and has ended the system under which all gasoline sent to various companies was pooled and distributed to retailers as one brand of gasoline.

A retailer is now free to take as much or as little of any company's product as he pleases within the bounds of his quota.

Under the increased ration, the private motorist, who motors only for pleasure, gets up to seven gallons a month, equivalent to about 160 miles of running, and the commercial motorist gets up to 16 gallons a month.

FULL PUBLICITY

ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT AND significant decisions reached by the Rules Committee of the Peace Conference in Paris is that which accords the press of the world free access to the proceedings of the gathering. The author of the proposal is the United States Secretary of State, Mr. James Byrnes, who had the satisfaction of hearing Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov support his motion. Needless to add, Mr. Mackenzie King, who is a member of the committee, heartily approved this course—as did Australia's blunt and forthright Foreign Minister Evatt.

While it follows that key figures among the representatives of the 21 nations participating in this first Peace Conference of the Second World War will hold numerous meetings behind closed doors—not to mention hotel corridors, whisperings—the effect announced to the world by the Rules Committee obviously insures the full light of publicity for all matters which concern the five former enemy states whose signatures will be required on the treaties now being considered in their draft form. And since several of the leading delegates are implacably pledged to the old Wilsonian principle of "open covenants openly arrived at"—regardless of certain bargains into which the original wartime "Big Three" entered in the cause of military unity—secret manoeuvres would not long remain secret.

Though it may be too much to hope that Mr. Molotov will be completely spared the occasional outburst in the columns of Pravda and Izvestia against the "capitalist-monopoly" nations, his approval of Mr. Byrnes' plan must be taken as an earnest of the Kremlin's official desire for the Soviet Union to play her part in assuring to the public complete information on matters which directly involve the future peace of the world. As the spokesman of the "middle" and smaller nations, moreover, Dr. Evatt can be depended upon to keep his weather eye on all moves not in strict accordance with his concept of press freedom.

CONSTRUCTIVE PROCEDURE

IN VIEW OF THE IMPONDERABLES which enter the question, a forecast of Germany's eventual status would, at this stage, be sheer speculation. It would appear, however, that the move initiated by Britain and the United States to merge their zones of occupation for economic purposes marks the beginning of a program designed to re-establish German economy—but, at the same time, preclude the former Reich from becoming a threat to future peace. Should the two powers be joined by France—and there is every indication that they will—the ineffective compartmentalized condition now prevailing may give way to a more cohesive organization which can work toward its own rehabilitation and contribute to the restoration of the other devastated areas of Europe.

Even without the region controlled by Russia, the larger territory that the merger would bring within the orbit of co-ordination offers promise of greatly increased production. When the Germans have been sufficiently de-Nazified, they, themselves, will find in it opportunities for re-establishment which are lacking while the country remains a collection of isolated segments. In the meantime, the occupying powers should be able to create assets from what now appear to be liabilities by removing some of the limitations imposed by the existing system.

OLD STORY IN NEW FORM

"CANADA MAY GET BRITISH BACON Market" is the heading of an article published under the signature of Mr. Robert W. Keyserlingk, the able head of the British United Press, whose observations recall to our mind the vicissitudes through which the Anglo-Canadian bacon trade has passed in the last quarter of a century. On the basis of information which Mr. Keyserlingk obtained on his recent visit to Denmark—Canada's original keen competitor in the British market for dairy products—the hog producers of this country may be more inclined to take the advice which the Deputy-Minister of Agriculture, Dr. G. S. H. Barton, gave them in a striking radio address in March last year.

On that occasion the federal official prefaced several important injunctions and warnings with the announcement that this country had agreed to provide the United Kingdom with 900,000,000 pounds of bacon in 1945 and 1946. But he feared that the decline in hog raising then becoming apparent might well result in inability to profit in 1947 and succeeding years from the reputation which he felt sure the Dominion's product would have again firmly established. His basic argument, of course, was that Canada could dispose of all her surplus in the British market. But he supplemented his categorical statement that Canadian agriculture was standing "at the crossroads" with the additional warning that our farmers were facing a choice between wandering "back to the more limited field of home consumption and restricted export" and "the highway stretching out to the markets of the world."

Regardless of the effect on agriculture

generally of the new wheat agreement into which Canada has entered with Great Britain, therefore, Mr. Keyserlingk's observations on Denmark's difficulties in obtaining feed supplies from those sources which were open to her before the war would seem to us a practical and stimulating footnote to Dr. Barton's radio chat more than a year ago. The B.U.P. chief was speaking specifically about the new Danish-Soviet trade treaty which bids fair to simplify this aspect of the Danish economy—and, incidentally, benefit Canada's export bacon trade. Says Mr. Keyserlingk in part:

"She (Denmark) obtained large quantities of feed grains on which her bacon and butter export trade to Great Britain and other countries was built from Eastern Germany, Poland and Hungary. Certain quantities also came from Soviet Russia (Ukraine). Now all these territories were under Soviet economic jurisdiction and Denmark was unable to maintain her bacon and dairy production unless she could also restore the supply of feed concentrates. Neither Canada nor Argentina was able, either through lack of supplies of shipping space, to substitute for feeds from the Soviet area. Russia had indicated her willingness, my informant told me, to supply Denmark's needs, but at a price."

While Denmark desired to restore her production for the British market, Mr. Keyserlingk discovered that Russia was ready to supply such commodities as the Danes required for their agricultural industry, but the Soviet Union was not in the least interested in restoring economic ties between Britain and Denmark. In other words, if the latter desired feed grains, Russia would supply them—so long as Denmark shipped her bacon and dairy products to Russian-dominated territory and not to the United Kingdom. This is the situation which the B.U.P. chief considers, and rightly so, is of "profound significance" to Canada. This country lost the British bacon market in the bumper crop years of the late 'twenties. The exhortations of Dr. Barton, however, may yet bear fruit.

STILL NOT SO SIMPLE

EVIDENTLY THE WORLD IN GENERAL and Great Britain in particular have not enough trouble to satisfy the Moslem League's policy-forming Council of Action.

This all-powerful organization which is seeking to control the destiny of its 90,000,000 adherents has taken the bit in its teeth and recommended the withdrawal of the League's acceptance of the British plan for granting independence to India. Mahomed Ali Jinnah, its president, regards the council's action as "most historic" and predicts that it will lead to Pakistan—separate states for Hindus and Moslems—despite the opposition of "two powers, one of them with machine guns behind it." It will be recalled that the Congress Party, the largest political body in the great sub-continent, approved the independence proposals one day after the League's acceptance. This provided for the creation of a federated union and the drafting of a charter by a Constituent Assembly elected by provincial legislatures.

Even the bitterest critics of British policy in India only recently agreed that the latest proposal which the Attlee cabinet mission had worked out was a fine piece of statesmanship—a lesson in understanding and tolerance attuned to the mood of the times. In the opinion of these remote-control experts, of course, here was a device which any intelligent minister at Westminster should have advanced many years ago. One or two columnists, posing as authorities on almost everything from the private lives of the anti-enters to the stance adopted by the golfers in the days of King James, felt quite sure of their ground after they had discussed the matter with Hindu and Moslem emissaries down at the San Francisco Conference last year. Several of them wrote learned articles about the problem; and for the life of them failed to see why successive British governments had been so stupid in their dealings with such a relatively trifling matter of composing the differences between a few hundred millions of peoples speaking hundreds of tongues, worshipping myriads of gods, divided by a hide-bound caste system, and so on. Yesterday's decision of the Moslem League's policy-forming Council of Action may be a little disconcerting to the cocksure columnists.

SHE LEAVES HER PUZZLES

MANY YEARS AGO THE READING world was puzzled by the peculiar forms which Gertrude Stein introduced to her writings. Now, following the death of the 72-year-old figure, who was widely acquainted with the art world of western Europe and this continent, vast numbers are still mystified by the methods she used. At times she seemed to employ the technique of a cracked gramophone record, making repetition her keynote. On other occasions she appeared to ignore entirely the use of terminal facilities. To most people her compositions were confusing—a sort of readying process for the incomprehensibilities of James Joyce's later production.

But at least Gertrude Stein enjoyed the greatest freedom from traditional expression. She was free as the air and often about as full of substance. It is said that Robert Browning, once asked for an explanation of one of his more obscure passages, replied that when it was written only God and Robert Browning knew what it meant, and that since then Robert Browning had forgotten. We wonder if Gertrude Stein enjoyed such selective sharing.

The job that never gets done is the one you will have plenty of time to do tomorrow.

Don't worry. The future must be bright, for Providence always raises up great men when we need them.

What a world! An unskilled lawyer can't save you, and if you hire a famous one, the jury figures you must be guilty.

New Line for Labor

By STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON.

TOP LEADERS of the C.I.O., faced with the dangers to the labor movement inherent in a steep rise in the cost of living, are seriously considering an entirely new labor strategy to deal with the situation, if prices get out of control. If this strategy, now being gravely discussed by the C.I.O. leadership, is finally decided upon, it will certainly have the most profound effect on the political and economic future of the country. For the intentions of labor form the crux of the whole price control crisis.

Labor leaders are fully conscious of the fact that the compromise price control measure may well break down under the enormous inflationary pressure with which it will be confronted.

THE MORE thoughtful among them also fully realize that strikes on the traditional pattern might well degenerate into the futile game of the dog chasing his own tail, with strikes and wage increases serving only to add fuel to the inflationary flames. Therefore for the immediate future the C.I.O. leadership hopes to hold unions to their contracts, at least until the contracts run out, even if there is an appreciable rise in the cost of living.

But if living costs really go up with a vengeance, which is certainly still possible, the rank and file of union men will demand higher wages in no uncertain voice, and any union leader who stands in their way will no longer be a union leader. When and if that happens as a number of the top C.I.O. strategists see it, the labor movement will be faced with two alternatives.

ONE ALTERNATIVE is to proceed with the traditional wage demands, to be followed by strikes if management refuses to come to what seems to the unions a reasonable settlement. In the inflationary period of a sellers' market, this traditional strike weapon would, many union leaders believe, be futile. Increased wages might be canceled out in a matter of weeks by increased prices.

That is why some C.I.O. leaders are seriously considering the possibilities of using the strike weapon in another way, if government controls on prices prove ineffective. The idea is that agreements on production, and by extension on prices and profits, should be tied into future union-management contracts. The economic theory on which this idea is based is most clearly expressed in Chester Bowles' book, "Tomorrow Without Fear," which preaches that one of the basic reasons for depressions has been in the past that the mass of workers and consumers do not share sufficiently in the benefits of increased production per man hour.

C.I.O. LEADERS point out, moreover, that the break-even point (the point in production when manufacturers begin to make a profit) averages according to union figures not much over 50 per cent of full production capacity. While in some industries it is as high as 90 per cent, in others it is as low as 20 per cent. This low average break-even point, the union leaders argue, reduces the manufacturer's interest in operating at capacity, since the more he produces, the more likely is the market to become saturated, and the price of his product to fall. The theory that competition will force the cost of living down is thus, the union men argue, gravely qualified. Competition among consumers will, on the contrary, tend to force prices up, while competition among workers for jobs will force wages down, a cycle which will constantly force prices and profits up until the bubble inevitably bursts.

THAT, TOO, BRIEFLY, is the thesis of some top C.I.O. strategists. From it they conclude that, if the cost of living begins really to get out of hand, agreements to force the break-even point up in industries where it is low should become a primary objective of union strategy. It is obvious that this would mean that the unions would concern themselves deeply with prices and profits as well as production, since prices and profits are certainly two important elements in the break-even point.

If such a tie-in of production, prices, profits and wages does become an established part of C.I.O. strategy, it will be a profoundly significant departure. Since it is still no more than a talking point, and since it would depend on an undetermined degree of rising living costs, it is perhaps futile to attempt to guess what its meaning for the future might be.

ONE THING, HOWEVER, is certainly clear. Strikes with this sort of objective would be resisted more bitterly, and would engender more anger and bitterness on both sides of the economic fence than the most violent strike waves of the past. It must be fervently hoped that the price control compromise, together with a moderate degree of self-restraint on all sides, will keep the cost of living within reasonable bounds.

Palestine Horror

From The Ottawa Journal

No one knows better than the Jewish leaders in Palestine and Jewish leaders throughout the world the harm that is being done their cause by the Palestine terrorists. Leaders of Zionism deplore the outrages they are unable to prevent; deplore them not only for the reasons common to all persons of decent instincts but because they know such things as the bombing of the King David Hotel in Jerusalem tend to alienate the sympathy of the world from the high objectives of the Zionists.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

As the long-awaited Paris Peace Conference got into action yesterday in ancient Luxembourg Palace there came from Washington an indirect, but none the less potent, reminder that there still remains a problem which is vastly more important than any, thing on the conference agenda—and that's what is going to happen to Germany.

The Washington reminder was the announcement that Britain had agreed in principle with the United States to merge their German zones of occupation into a single economic unit. This is Britain's response to United States State Secretary Byrnes' appeal in the Big Four Foreign Ministers' Conference July 11 for the establishment of a central administration in Germany to give economic unity. The purpose was to permit an exchange of resources and thus avert the economic paralysis with which the Reich is threatened because it is divided into four more or less air-tight compartments.

Ostensibly the Washington announcement had no relation to the peace policy. It wouldn't be surprising to learn, however, that the timing of the statement was by inspiration. In any event it was part for the occasion, for the future of Europe depends in great degree on what disposition the Allies make of the Germany which for so long was the economic arch of continental Europe.

Official circles in Washington and London expect that France will join with Britain and the United States in this economic unity, but that Russia will reject the proposal. If that's what happens it will mean that the Reich will be split into two sections—the western part which will comprise the American, British and French zones, and the eastern side, which is in Russian hands.

This division might easily become permanent, thus separating Europe into two camps—one under Russian domination and the other playing along with the Allies.

The question of Germany won't be settled in the present peace conference, but the degree of accord reached among the Big Four will have a vital bearing on the fate of the Reich.

ANOTHER WAR?

Maj.-Gen. Brock Chisholm, a psychiatrist of note and Canada's late Deputy Minister of National Health, has just resigned this position to the regret of all free thinking Canadians. In the current issue of The Nation, under the title "Can Man Survive?" Dr. Chisholm writes, "The most important question to the human race now, and perhaps permanently, should be, Is there going to be another war?" Another well-known Canadian author, L. S. B. Motoring Satisfaction Depends Upon The Place Where Your Car Is Serviced

The thoughtful motorist realizes that every service operation on his car, however unimportant, is essentially just as vital as the manufacture and installation of that part in the factory where the car was engineered and built. After you take title to your car, the place where you get it serviced is the only place where it should and constructive interest in your motoring satisfaction can be exercised. You must depend on your service man for personal and individual consideration. This service shop is staffed and equipped in duplicate factory standards in all service operations. Here your service job is more than a ticket or a number. You and your car get individual attention plus constructive counsel and suggestion based on your car's performance and needs. This kind of service costs you no more—often less than merely "service."

answers in the affirmative. "We are marching toward war with Russia." We can avoid it—but only by convincing Russia that we don't want it," says Shapiro, and quotes authorities who believe this war may come within six months to five years, with some optimists predicting 10 years.

With war so imminent we should do all in our power to avert the danger of another conflict being brought about by a struggle for the economic control of central Europe and the Near East. One way—possibly the only way—that Capitalism and Communism can co-operate to establish world peace, progress and prosperity, is pointed out by George Richmond Walker in his timely article "Silvio Gesell and Free Private Enterprise," which appears in July Harper's magazine.

This correspondent had the opportunity a year ago of discussing this subject with Mr. Walker, and will be pleased to mail literature concerning this

TOO BAD - THERE WAS NO LIFE INSURANCE!

WHAT woman excites more pity than the widow left without some financial provision for her future?

For most people, Life Insurance is the one sure means of planning a continuance of income in case of the untimely death of a breadwinner. It can be arranged to provide a guaranteed monthly income which will arrive with clock-like regularity . . . a continuing "pay-envelope" to replace earnings that are lost.

The wife who neglects to plan the family budget to allow the inclusion of Life Insurance is foolish indeed.

No Nylon Lines Down Mexico Way

NOGALES, Mexico (CP)—Mexico is a land of plenty—if you have plenty of money.

T-bone steaks, nylons, liquor, butter and sugar are abundant.

In fact, there isn't a shortage of much of anything in this city of 25,000, just across the international border from Arizona.

Beef is piled high in market show cases or on blocks but it doesn't look too tempting with flies swarming in the warm afternoon sun.

Stores advertise nylons by size, gauge and make. There are no lines. The price is about $2.95 a pair.

Markets are loaded with sugar. It isn't as highly refined as the American product, but just as sweet. A visitor can take five pounds back across the border without worrying about a ration stamp. Camera film is advertised by most merchants, and almost every size is on hand, but the cost is about double that in the States.

Mexican urchins roam the streets selling popular brands of cigarettes at a quarter a package. A tourist can bring $100 worth of Mexican goods into the United States duty free. There is a steady two-way procession across the border these days. Americans are stocking up on scarce items. Mexicans buy armloads of groceries in Arizona stores.

Ration Coupons

Ration coupons valid Wednesday are: Butter, Nos. R10 to F15; meat, Nos. M40 to M47, and sugar, Nos. S1 to S23.

'Miss Australia' To Visit Canada

BRISBANE, Australia (CP)—Nineteen years old, blond Rhonda Kelly, who was recently chosen "Miss Australia, 1945" in a nationwide quest for beauty, plus brains, will visit Canada on her world tour this fall.

Niagara Falls, Toronto, Banff, Lake Louise and Vancouver are the Canadian points on her present itinerary. She now is touring the United Kingdom and later will visit the United States, then Canada and will go to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Hollywood before sailing for Australia.

The Brisbane girl is unusual among beauty contest winners. She postponed the world tour, which was her main prize, for six months so that she could complete her course in physiotherapy at the University of Queensland.

Headed by two of Australia's best-known physicians, Dame Constance d'Arcy and Dr. Addie Walker, the judges included four artists, Will Ashton, Julian Rose, J. C. Bancks and Ray Lindsay; a sculptor, Lyndon Dodswell; physical culture experts, photographers and the chairman of directors of a big Sydney theatre; also a judge, and obviously "playing hooky" was the New South Wales director of education, J. Mackenzie.

Education counted 12 points of the 67 which could be awarded. The girls were then chosen for their looks and personality.

Posture, ease in conversation, charm, smile, were all considered, and high marks were given for the way the girls tackled stiff questions on art, history and general topics. Sought particularly were a sound knowledge of Australian background, geography, politics, and history, and the ability to keep a conversation going.

Miss Kelly is only five feet, three and one-half inches in height, and although earlier in the competition she weighed 112 pounds, the excitement and travel reduced her weight by 12 pounds. Her measurements at the time of judging were: Bust and hips 34 inches, and waist 25 inches.

Mother of Heroes Receives Welcome

CRAIGMYLE, Alta. (CP)—Mother of three sons lost while serving with the R.C.A.F., Mrs. W. B. Anderson, was given a welcome befitting the mother of heroes when she returned to her home in Copenhagen recently.

In a letter to her husband here, Mrs. Anderson tells of the reception she received. She was met on arrival by a government official and on entering the station her name was announced over the public address system. Reporters and photographers were on hand and the morning newspapers carried stories about her arrival and her contribution to the war effort.

300,000 Youngsters Homeless in Poland

WARSAW (CP)—Poland's child population has dropped from 15,000,000 in 1939 to 8,000,000 or 8,500,000, of which 200,000 are war orphans and 1,500,000 half orphans, the Polish Ministry of Education has disclosed.

The ministry said a considerable number of children who lost parents were being cared for by relatives, but there were 300,000 for whom places must be found in foster families or in children's homes, supported by the treasury or by public welfare.

Vacation Bible School

Knox Presbyterian Daily Vacation Bible School completed its third year when a large audience of parents and friends gathered to hear the children recite Bible verses and sing many gospel choruses they had learned during the two-week period. Bible Drill was given each morning, and was preceded by the Bible Salute. Superintendent was Mrs. W. Sanders, with Rev. J. A. Munro, Mrs. J. A. Kennedy and Miss Margaret Boyd teachers. Miss June Layne acted as secretary of the school. Presentations of attendance certificates were given to the following by Rev. T. H. McAllister, moderator of Victoria Presbytery, for two years perfect attendance: Beverly Poskitt, Audrey Turner, David Walker and Douglas Poskitt. First year, perfect attendance: Charlie Brown, Keith Turner, Frances Walker, Michael Saunders, Gerry Saunders.

The fourth Annual Daily Vacation Bible School continues at Erskine Presbyterian Church this week and next, from 9.30 till 12 noon, for girls and boys from five to 15. The teaching staff will be the same as that of Knox Presbyterian School. The school is open to boys and girls of any denomination or assembly in the district. The school is carried on at the church, Harriett and Lurline Avenue, Saanich.

Newest Libraries Have Auditoriums

Margaret Clay, head of the Victoria Public Library, told today of ideas gained in the construction of modern libraries during a seven-week trip through eastern Canada and the United States.

Miss Clay attended the organization meeting of Canadian Library Association in Hamilton and the annual conference of the American Library Association at Buffalo. She also visited libraries built in the last 10 years to obtain ideas to present to the Library Board here for construction of a new building.

Outstanding features in library construction included adequate space for new books for 25 years; careful planning to utilize every corner; no useless passageways; plenty of working space for staffs; comfortable rooms for the public and the latest in acoustical materials in ceilings and walls.

"New libraries in cities the size of Victoria," she said, "are planning for auditoriums holding about 250 people. They are also building small rooms for gramophone concerts and film showings."

Miss Clay visited libraries as far south as New Orleans and saw the latest construction in two new branches in New York City; in Hartford, Conn.; Springfield, Mass.; Brooklyn Public Library and Toronto's Sunny-side Branch.

Organization of the Canadian Library Association, she said, marked the first time librarians had banded together as a professional group in Canada. She considered the association would do much for library development in books, recordings and films.

"It is important, too," she said, "because it includes both English and French-speaking Canada."

Miss Clay said aims of the association were "to promote education, science and culture within the nation through library service; to promote high standards for librarians; to co-operate with other libraries within and outside Canada and other organizations interested in promotion of education, science and culture."

While in New York Miss Clay attended two sessions on the control of atomic energy at Hunter College. In Toronto she attended a meeting of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Victoria Veterans Meet Brides

VANCOUVER (CP)—It was brides' day at the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways stations here Monday when 108 British Columbia veterans met their British, Belgian and Dutch brides.

More than 80 babies—the largest group of children to reach Vancouver at one time from overseas—added their voices to the hubbub of excited wives and husbands. Many of the babies were meeting their fathers for the first time.

The arrivals included the British wife of Samuel Clement of Victoria, and the Belgian bride of Olaf Olson, another Victoria veteran.

Davis was tea convener and was assisted by Mesdames W. Coopsie, F. Almas, O. McManus, Misses A. Hayes, R. Lacy, Mrs. J. Grosart and Mrs. M. Richardson were in charge of the miscellaneous stall; Mrs. J. Sherman, lucky dip; Miss Ripley, contest; J. Fraser and G. Bolton, hot dogs.

Primer for Brides—If the bride wears gloves, she should remove the left one, or the ring finger of the left glove should be slit. Before the ceremony the engagement ring should be removed or transferred to the right hand, as the wedding ring is worn first, with engagement ring above it. The matron or maid of honor takes the bride's bouquet when the ring is about to be slipped on.

The use of veneers dates back to the earliest days of civilization.

Follow Easy Rules For Canning Peaches

The No. 1 fruit on the 1946 canning program is peaches. And now is the time to begin your canning. Here is a tested and easy way to can peaches at home, worked out by canning experts.

Remember, two and one-half pounds of peaches will make one quart of canned fruit, and 20 pounds of peaches will make eight quarts of canned fruit.

STEPS TO SUCCESS

Choose peaches that are sound, ripe, firm. Don't use any with decayed spots. Even if you cut out the spots, bacteria may lurk to spoil the rest.

Work with only enough for one canner load at a time. Wash fruit well. Lift out of water. Don't bruise.

For easy peeling, dip into boiling water for about a minute or so, then dip quickly into cold water. A wire basket or cheese cloth will hold the fruit.

Strip off skins; take out pits. Cut into slices or halves. To keep from turning dark, drop at once into 1 gallon of water with 2 tablespoons of salt, 2 of vinegar. Then drain.

If fruit is juicy, add sugar—½ cup to each quart of uncooked peaches. Then heat to boiling and pack in its own juice.

For less juicy fruit—drop into boiling syrup. Heat fruit through, but don't cook until soft.

If you're canning without sugar—cook fruit in its own juice. Or add just enough hot water to keep fruit from sticking to pan.

Meantime, heat clean jars and lids. Put hot wet rubber ring on jar, and pack peaches loosely, one at a time. Leave ½-inch headspace.

Cover peaches with boiling liquid, still leaving ½-inch headspace. It usually takes about ¼ to 1 cup of liquid to each quart jar.

WORK OUT BUBBLES

Work out air bubbles by running a knife blade down the sides of jar. Add more liquid if needed.

Wipe jar rim and ring with clean, damp cloth. One sticky bit can keep the jar from sealing airtight. Put on glass lid.

Push long wire ball over lid into groove. Leave the short wire up, loose. Work fast and put jars into canner as soon as filled.

When all jars are in, see that water comes over tops. Put on canner lid. When water boils hard, count time, and process 20 minutes at sea level, longer at higher altitudes.

When time is up, take out jars, quickly push the short wire down to complete seal of each jar. Protect your hands with thick cloth.

Set jars out to cool, right side up, on thick cloth or paper. Keep them away from drafts or sudden cold. Don't cover.

INDEPENDENT OLD AGE

Now that the span of life has been lengthened so greatly, and we have so much more time on our hands than our grandparents had, it is obvious that we need to scrap a lot of our old customs and habits, and to formulate a new code of conduct. For we have evolved a new species of genus homo who are still going strong at an age when their forebears had climbed up on the shelf and begun to talk of their latter end, and who need a lot of education in how to keep their ideas as young as their arteries.

First of all, they should quit making a racket of age. They should realize that with this new gift of years came certain obligations, and that just because they had a number of birthdays they were not entitled to become burdens on their family and friends and the general public. All of us know men and women who are in prime physical condition and perfectly capable of supporting themselves, but who make their age an excuse for never doing a lick of work.

MAKE MARTYRS OF CHILDREN

Thousands of grafting parents begin talking to their children about their "poor old mother" or their "poor old father" while their youngsters are still in the cradle, with the happy result for them that they are enabled to take a seat on the do-nothing stool as soon as Janey and Tommy are old enough to get their working papers.

The world is filled with lonely old maids and bachelors who had to give up all thoughts of love and matrimony and children because they had their parents to support. Innumerable homes are broken up by cranky old people who went to live with their married children and, nine times out of 10, these dependent parents are neither old nor feeble. Father just didn't want to be tied down by a job and mother was tired of washing dishes; so they made age an excuse for quitting.

And if people are going to live longer, it is certainly important that they should do something constructive with their additional time. This is especially true of women who, in their youth, should begin preparing themselves for the years that are to come after they have reared their families and who, only too often, are left with nothing to do and no way to fill their empty lives.

LEARN SOME SKILL

Often these women are widows. Often they are poor. Often they have no trade or profession. Nearly always they are desperately lonely. Their fate is a cruel one, yet it need not be if only they had prepared themselves for the lean years that lay ahead of them by learning some skill by which they could support themselves; by keeping up their friendships and social contacts, and by maintaining their individuality.

And, finally, if we are to cumber the world longer with our presence, we owe it to our fellows creatures to be as pleasant to live with as possible. We haven't any right to make age an excuse for discarding all of the social amenities and becoming cantankerous and whining and complaining, and even repulsive to look at.

Age is what we make it. We can either be pests or blessings. And, inasmuch as we are due to stick around for quite a spell, it is up to us to, at least, try to be good company.

Named Secretary Of Community Chest

David G. Decker, recently took up his duties as secretary of the Council of Social Agencies and the Community Chest. Mr. Decker was born in Newfoundland and educated in New Brunswick, attending Mount Allison University at Sackville. He was studying Arts and Theology there when war broke out and he immediately joined the Y.M.C.A. War Services branch.

After a year with the Y.M.C.A. he enlisted in the navy being assigned to the special services branch. He attained the rank of lieutenant-commander, and for two years served as deputy director of special services branch in Ottawa. He was overseas for a year, organizing special services there, as well as in Newfoundland and on the east coast.

For the last two years of the war he was stationed at Esquimalt, as a staff officer, and while here he worked closely with the Council of Social Agencies on investigations of all social services cases involving naval personnel.

His wife and 19-months-old daughter, Eleanor, will join him in Victoria in August, and his biggest problem at the moment is finding a place for them to live, he stated today.

Mr. Decker will be in charge of the Community Chest campaign this fall.

Woman Lands Tuna

HALIFAX (CP) — Province House Press Service searched through the records and reported Monday that Miss Mabel F. Hole-In-One Tourney Realizes $11,405

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—The Spokane Athletic Round Table brought its $17,500 hole-in-one tournament to a close last night after 34,215 shots had been fired at the two 125-yard holes to net $11,405 for charity. President Joe Albi estimated it cost the organization $25,000 to stage the charity.

Fifty per cent of the proceeds go to the families of those killed in the Spokane baseball disaster. Twenty-five per cent each goes to the American Cancer Society and to the Sister Kenney Infantile Paralysis Fund.

Happiest man was young Curt Bolton of Spokane. He won the 13th, 10th, eighth and seventh prizes for $1,125 in United States bonds, and a $6,000 airplane, delivable in October. The plane was the result of a hole-in-one— one of the two made during the 16-day meet.

The other man to score a hole-in-one was Gardner Van Dusen of Spokane, who also received an airplane.

Gee In Bad With Chicago Hawks For Jumping Contract

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — George Gee, Chicago Black Hawks' top rookie forward, seemed to be in hot water today with both baseball and hockey moguls.

Gee reportedly jumped a contract with Kingston Ponies, to play baseball with Shipyard's team of the Halifax and District Senior Ball League. His action in breaking his contract with the Ponies suspended him from professional baseball and threatened his position with the Black Hawks in hockey.

Bill Tobin, president of the Chicago Black Hawks National League Hockey Club, said today he emphatically disapproved of the action of Gee in jumping Kingston Ponies to play baseball in Halifax and indicated that the Chicago club would discipline him. "Under no circumstances," Tobin said, "will I ever tolerate action such as this. Gee will be so informed. I did not desire to prevent his playing baseball for Kingston but this Halifax matter is something else again. Gee definitely did not seek nor would he have received my permission to play baseball for any other team than the Ponies."

Last season Gee was runner-up to Edgar Laprade for the rookies award in the National Hockey League.

At present Gee is playing regularly for the Shipyard's team and professes to be unworried over all threats that he will be black-listed by the Black Hawks when he turns out for National League hockey in the fall.

Privy Council Test For Alberta Bill 76

Legality of Bill 73, the Alberta "Bill of Rights," would be tested in the Privy Council in London regardless of the decision given by the Supreme Court of Alberta, Premier E. C. Manning told a Social Credit picnic here.

Mr. Manning described the bill as ensuring the freedom and security of each individual in Alberta. One clause of the bill, he explained, provided for the necessities of life adequate to ensure the health and physical well-being of every individual.

The bill is now before the Supreme Court of Alberta, the Manning government demanding that it show cause if any why the bill can not be implemented. Mr. Manning added, however, that regardless of the decision of this court, the bill would be taken to the highest court in the realm.

The picnic, at the home of Maj. and Mrs. A. H. Jukes, Mount Newton Crossroad, was attended by 75. Arrangements were made by Miss W. Hughes.

More Salmonellosis Reported In City

Two more cases of Salmonellosis have been reported in the city Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical health officer, said today.

One of these was a boy who became ill in Vancouver, when he and other members of the family developed symptoms of the disease after eating hot dogs in a park.

Dr. Anderson pointed out that despite its name, Salmonellosis has no connection with the eating of salmon, but that it received its name because the germ was first discovered by Dr. D. F. Salmon in 1885.

Dr. Anderson warned that the infection may be transmitted from one person to another by direct contact, but more commonly through the medium of cooked meats, custard or dairy products handled by an infected person. It is also spread by rats and mice.

Naturalists say cheetahs, which resemble leopards, have been noted traveling 70 miles an hour.

52 Years On Teaching Staff L. A. Campbell Still On Job

Fifty-two years ago a young man from Ontario set out with his widowed mother and eight younger brothers and sisters for the West Coast to join an uncle, Leonard Tait, who was teaching in Victoria.

As soon as he landed in Victoria in 1895, that same young man, L. A. Campbell, started out teaching in Cadboro Bay school and he has taught in and about Victoria ever since that time with only two short breaks, one when he went to Vancouver for 18 months to take charge of special manual training classes at Strathcona School; the other when he tried to retire in 1938. He had approximately six months of retirement, acting as substitute teacher on several occasions, and then the war broke out and he was recalled to aid in the training of shipyard workers to build the tools of war.

Mr. Campbell was born in 1870 in Arnprior, Ont., where his father was a teacher, and he was second oldest of a family of 10 children. His father died while Mr. Campbell was attending Queen's University as a student, he recalled, and that was when the family decided to come to Victoria.

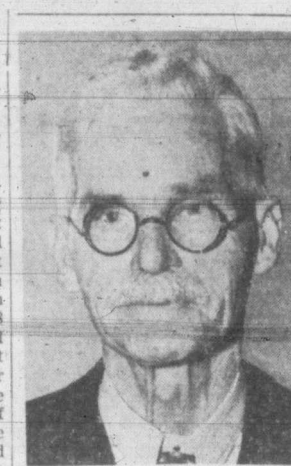

After teaching at Cadboro Bay for one year he went to Esquimalt, teaching at a school located where the drydock is now. He recalled that in the school the biggest rivalry was between the children from "inside the barracks" and those from "outside."

HOLDS CYCLING RECORDS
During this period he was chiefly noted as a bicycle rider, and he still holds the provincial record for the 100-mile bicycle race, having ridden the 100 miles in six and a half hours, which made him a member of the "Century Club."

He taught at Spring Ridge School for several years, and then went to Victoria West and South Park. Eventually he went to Central High School, and when Sir Walter MacDonald started manual training throughout Canada he was one of the first teachers in Victoria to take up this type of teaching.

It was at this time he went to Vancouver and, when he returned to Vancouver Island, he went to Saanich as manual training supervisor, where he remained for 10 years. From there he returned to Victoria High School, in charge of technical work.

He is still teaching the special classes in the Market Building, and thinks he will be at the job for another two or three years. When he finally gets around to retiring he says he will just putter around in his garden at Saanich, where he lives with his wife.

From teaching shipyard workers, his special classes were converted into classes for under-age soldiers between 17 and 18, to equip them as motor mechanics, machinists and electricians.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Now with the end of the war the classes have also been converted and veterans are receiving training under the vocational training program. There are about 25 pupils at the moment.

Mr. Campbell was 12 years in Victoria before he married the former Miss Mary Fairall, a member of one of Victoria's pioneer families. They have four children, only one of whom followed the teaching tradition of the family, but she is now married and has quit the profession. His other daughter is also married. One son lives in the Cariboo and the other is taking a mechanical engineer's course at the University of Toronto, after being recently discharged from the Navy.

Mr. Campbell comes from a family that is closely bound up in the history of Canada. He recalled with a chuckle that his grandfather was slated to be hung with the rebel, William Lyon Mackenzie but fortunately he escaped to the United States until the little affair of the rebellion blew over and it was safe for him to come back to Canada.

To improve its domestic water supply system.

Succeeding Dr. A. Francis of New Denver, whose appointment has been rescinded, Dr. A. J. Venables has been appointed Medical health officer for New Denver.

P. H. Wilson of Chilliwack has been appointed deputy to Coroner F. Grimm.

Victoria Schools Short Of Teachers As Romance Calls

The teacher shortage has hit Victoria too, although after the last School Board meeting the trustees went home happy in the thought that they had finally filled the panel with all the teachers needed.

However, at the School Board office today it was learned that six of them found distant pastures greener and resigned, while three more felt the call of romance and announced they would be getting married instead of returning to the classrooms.

With July 31 the deadline for the signing of most contracts the Victoria school inspectors are anxiously canvassing all prospects at the Summer School of Education and through the media of newspaper advertisements.

This year has proven the most difficult to date to get teachers, and the task has been complicated for the Greater Victoria board by varied salary schedules still in force in the four municipalities. School officials do not anticipate the same difficulty next year when they are operating under a uniform salary schedule for the whole area.

There were no resignations at all from the Oak Bay schools, the School Board office reported, very few from the city schools, with most of the difficulties coming from the Saanich and Esquimalt resignations.

Orders-In-Council

The provincial government, by order-in-council, has amended regulations governing the approval, sale, installation and maintenance of oil burners, bringing the regulations up to date.

Sixteen acres on Beaverdam Lake, north of Clinton, have been set aside for the recreation and enjoyment of the public. Approval has been given to the sale of 4.7 acres near Roger Creek to the city of Alberni for a garbage disposal area.

Request of Herbert J. Welch that 11.55 acres at Qualicum Beach, needed for the improvement of the village, be sold to the village commissioners, has been approved.

The government has approved a by-law of the city of Kamloops empowering it to borrow $16,000

Archbishop Duke Opens Catholic Missionary Exhibit

Hundreds of posters, paintings and works of handicraft, depicting the work of the Catholic Church throughout British Columbia and Alaska, over the past 100 years, were seen at St. Ann's Academy Sunday, when Archbishop W. Mark Duke, of Vancouver opened the second diocesan missionary exhibition.

Held in conjunction with the Centenary Celebration of the diocese of Victoria, which began Sunday morning with Grand Pontifical Mass in St. Andrew's Cathedral, and will conclude Aug. 4, the exhibition is housed in the Academy, St. Ann's Gymnasium; the primary school on Heywood Avenue, lecture rooms of St. Joseph's School of Nursing and the Pioneer Convent.

It will be open every evening except Wednesday and on Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 4:30. Rev. Roland Roberts, S.F.M., national director of the Holy Childhood Association, is general supervisor. All Catholic schools and organizations on the Island have contributed to the exhibition.

There is a display representing the creed—symbols of the Eucharist and Creation by St. Ann's Academy, Vancouver; intricate beadwork, pictures and history of the Kamloops Indian Residential School founded in 1890 which now has 300 pupils; a miniature camp and grounds set up by the Boy Scouts of Dunsmuir.

One of the highlights of the exhibition is the booth erected by the Missionary Sisters of Our Lady of the Angels and Fathers of the Scarborough Foreign Mission Society, which was in charge of Father L. McFarland and Sister Mary Gabrielle.

All objects in the large booth were brought from China and included hand-embroidered Chinese silks, hand-carved chairs and other objects of art, brought by the sisters from China prior to the outbreak of war. The sisters have operated Loretto Hall, a guest house for business girls, since 1939.

From Alaska came fur-trimmed hand-made boots, leather gloves trimmed with fur, beaver skin caps and costly beaver skin parkas. They were from the Mission St. Pierre-Claver, founded in 1899. There were pictures depicting the work of the Holy Cross industrial school for Indians, which is a work of charity of the Sisters of St. Ann. The school is below the arctic circle. There was also a display from the Indians at Nulato, which is within the arctic circle.

Lining the walls of one display room were paintings of the various activities of the Sisters of St. Ann, who operate 17 schools and 10 hospitals in British Columbia and Alaska. There is a map showing the starting of the church at Fort Langley in 1841 by Bishop Demers, then Father Demers.

One large booth under the Catholic Youth Organization contains Catholic papers and pamphlets from across the continent. William Featherstonehaugh is in charge.

California Institute of the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart, who operate Sacred Heart School at Lakehill and three Indian schools, had a booth, as did: Pontifical Mission Aid Societies; Catholic Church Extension Society; Christian Brothers; Sisters of St. Joseph, Sister of Charity of Halifax; Sisters of the Love of Jesus; Poor Clares; Oblates of Mary Immaculate and Benedictine Sisters; Company of Mary, Legion of Mary, C.W.I., Holy Name Society, and St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Teachers To Have Medicals In August

Teachers of Victoria and Esquimalt schools will receive medical examinations during August at the Health Centre. Dr. R. A. Smillie, school health officer, announced today.

This is to comply with the request of the Greater Victoria School Board that all teachers be medically examined annually. Dr. Smillie explained. Teachers are being asked to make appointments for their examinations through the health centre.

Dr. G. L. Gayton, Saanich Health officer, is making arrangements to have the Saanich teachers examined by the health department there, and it is believed that similar arrangements will be made by Dr. G. C. Kenning for Oak Bay teachers.

Asks History Of P.R. Voting System

The Chief Electoral Officer of Canada is making a study of proportional representation, he informed M. F. Hunter, city clerk, today, and asked for full information on when this system was used in Victoria and why it was rejected.

Delving into the records Mr. Hunter reported that only one election has been held in Victoria municipal elections using the single transferable vote system. This was in January, 1921.

In January, 1920 the people voted in favor of using proportional representation by a two to one vote.

However, after seeing the manner in which it worked some of those who did not like the results started an immediate campaign to have it rescinded, a special referendum was put to the people March, 1921, and the system was rejected by a vote of two to one.

Anti-Vivisection Group
H. Hollins presided at the monthly board meeting of the local Anti-Vivisection Society. A donation was proposed to aid the National Anti-vivisection League's special appeal fund. Miss Lind of Hageby held that a convention would be held in Geneva in 1947. The radio broadcast to have been held under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce did not take place as advertised because the medical research speakers withdrew at short notice. Two English societies supplied useful information on the use of vitamins. Rev. C. Tickell, Vicar of Latton, Eng., sent proposals for furthering animal protection work generally.

The possibility of organizing branch societies in British Columbia was discussed. Teachers and students at the Summer School were warned against inoculation and vaccination.

The DOCTOR Says:

WATER AND REST PREVENT SUMMER FATIGUE

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

That special benefits are derived from extra amounts of certain foods is implied in the claims of some manufacturers and advertisers, but there is no evidence that amounts of any food beyond our actual needs are of value. As a general rule, extra quantities of special foods do no harm except that their purchase is a waste of money.

In order to work, one must eat. Muscular efficiency drops as hunger increases.

Food is a source of energy for all work, but can we do more work, or prevent the onset of muscular fatigue, by eating extra amounts of certain foods? Dr. Austin Henschel believes that the diet which has been recommended by the research groups is adequate for our needs, and that extra supplies of certain food essentials are not necessary.

Summer fatigue may be due to a variety of causes, including low blood sugar. Excessive tiredness, fatigue, and even collapse may occur when the blood sugar becomes extremely low.

SUGAR IMPROVES WORK

Blood sugar drops down to fasting levels about three hours after we eat, and if some sugar is taken at this time the blood sugar will rise about 75 per cent and the muscular efficiency will go up about 25 per cent.

Workers who were given extra quantities of sugar after they had been well fed are reported to have increased their work output. But did the increase in production come from the extra sugar, or did it result from the extra attention they received?

All of us respond by doing more and better work under the stimulus of interest displayed by others in what we are doing, and most investigators believe that this is the explanation of the extra "spurt" in production recorded in the "sugar experiment."

Workers fed large amounts of fat in similar tests tired more easily than others, probably because they did not eat as much sugar. Other workers, fed a diet containing large amounts of protein, did better than did those who ate extra quantities of fat.

REST RELIEVES FATIGUE

Coffee, tea, and soft drinks are recommended for the relief of summer fatigue. The mid-morning cup of coffee, the afternoon cup of tea, or the frequent drinking of certain soft drinks apparently relieves fatigue because of the caffeine in the beverages. But when caffeine is administered for fatigue, larger doses are required than are found in coffee, tea, or soft drinks. Investigators conclude that it is the rest which accompanies the work recess that helps us, and that the drinks themselves are of little benefit.

A lack of certain vitamins in the diet is known to cause fatigue. If thiamin, which belongs to the B group, is reduced in the diet, the fatigue which results will disappear when the vitamin is restored to normal levels.

Extra quantities of vitamins, including thiamin, do not, however, increase work output or prevent fatigue.

The Committee on Food and Nutrition of the National Research Council found that basic food requirements can be satisfied through proper selection of food. A normal diet, plenty of water, or water and salt, and rest, periods prevent summer fatigue.

SCHOOLMASTER MADE TESTS WITH KITE POWER

In the first third of the past century, men were working on the special problem of land transport. They wanted to cover the ground faster than could be done in stagecoaches.

The steam railway proved to be the best method, but the fact was learned only after long, hard testing. Inventors tried out several ideas besides the steam locomotive.

One idea was to put sails on a railway carriage and let it spin along the tracks when the wind blew! That offered a cheap way of travel, but one trouble with it was the fact that the wind may fail to blow at a certain time. Also the wind may blow in the wrong direction. A person headed for Washington, D.C., would hardly care to be swept back to Philadelphia after he had made part of his journey!

Of course, in the case of wind changing like that, it would be possible to take down the sail and come to a stop. In that case, the passengers might find themselves hungry while far from any place where they could order a meal. Waiting for the wind would hardly be a pleasant way of traveling on land. On water it is somewhat better. A sailboat or sailing vessel can be handled so it will make good use of side-winds, as well as those which blow from behind.

Another strange use of the wind was made by a schoolmaster in Bristol, England. This man, George Pocock, decided that kites could be made so large and strong that they would pull a carriage over the ground.

In one test, we are told, a huge kite fastened to the family buggy, pulled it "over the moon." Later Pocock fastened two kites to a light-weight carriage which he had built for this special purpose. One kite was larger than the other. Between them the kites had a surface of 100 square feet.

If we may believe the inventor's claims, he traveled by kite power along a road for several miles outside of Bristol and "passed the London mail coach."

Further reports by Pocock told how his daughter was fastened in an armchair and made a "kite journey" 300 feet into the air before being safely landed. If this report is true, Pocock had a bold idea, but was somewhat careless of the poor girl's life!

Ask Investigation Of Veterans' Homes

An immediate investigation into costs of Veterans' Land Act homes was asked in a telegram from the Greater Victoria Citizens Rehabilitation Council to the Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Veterans' Affairs, Ottawa, today.

The telegram sent to the minister under the signature of A. Palmer, executive secretary of the council, read:

"In view of prices being quoted for Veterans' Land Act project houses in and around Victoria, we request that an investigation into these land and building costs be instituted immediately."

Last week the first of 90 small holdings under the V.L.A. was offered a local veteran who rejected it because, it is claimed, the price quoted was $7,636.70, which was far too high.

40 Boys To Attend Second 'Y' Camp

After enjoying 10 days of tent life during the hottest and brightest period of the year, 60 young boys of Victoria and district, aged 10 to 12 years, yesterday returned from the Victoria Y.M.C.A.'s first camping period of 1946 at beautiful Glens Lake snuggled in the Sooke Hills.

Their return to the city yesterday was the first time in a week and a half, outing that they encountered rain. It was a tanned and healthy-looking bunch of youngsters who returned to the city pavements.

Peter Spence, camp director, who was ably assisted by Dr. Rundle, retired former prairie dentist, and James Taylor, is now making arrangements for the second and last camping period for an older age group—13 to 17—which starts tomorrow.

Forty boys will make up this party, which will leave the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Depot at 1:30 in the afternoon. They will return to the city Aug. 9.

While out at the lake, the first group held a swimming and track and field meet. Archie McKinnon and some of his best Flying "Y" aquatic performers attended and conducted learn-to-swim classes every day.

Winners of the swim meet, events in which were mostly over the 25 yards distance, follow: 10 years, freestyle, Peter Walker; 11 years, freestyle, Stanley Hutton; 12 years, freestyle, Bob Homstead; leaders, freestyle, Bob Clark; 10 years, orange race, Peter Walker; 11 years, breaststroke, E. Wynne; 12 years, breaststroke, Arthur Speed; leaders, breaststroke, Bobby Clarke; 12 years, breaststroke, Jim Brown; leaders, backstroke, Bobby Clarke; tent relay, Tent No. 3, Hutton, Brown and Fraser.

Steal Cheques, Cash From Home Oil Safe

Safecrackers stole $5,163 in cheques, $153 in cash and $5 in stamps from the strong box of the Home Oil Distributors Ltd. office, 4 Huron Street, James Bay, Monday night.

Detectives Maurice Wilkinson and Fearon Woodburn, of the city police, said the safe had been opened without the use of explosives. The dial had been knocked off and the mechanism forced in such a manner that the door could be opened. Entrance to the office was made through a window which had been forced open.

On June 19 of this year $356 was stolen from a safe in the same office which was broken open under similar circumstances.

Miss Mary Ann Johnston has written Mayor Percy George suggesting that the law which provides for the punishment of parents of delinquent children should be enforced.

F. Shipman, 1628 McKinley Street, who is a tourist from Florida, has written Mayor Percy George protesting that rates for trailer parking space have risen here from $3.50 a week in 1939 to $1.50 a night now. He suggested that the city should operate a reasonably-priced trailer camp, pointing out that such tourists would bring more money into the city.

Approximately 15 children at the Receiving Home run by the Children's Aid Society were given circus tickets through the good offices of Mayor Percy George. Today Miss Rae Kirkendale, Children's Aid Society secretary, wrote Mayor George telling how the children enjoyed the performance which was "one of the happy highlights of the season for them."

Gordon Head Girl Witness In Stolen Car Court Hearing

Beverly Bernice Mitchell, Gordon Head girl, who was riding in a car which was being investigated by city police constables Stanley Cornish and John Deans Blackstock when the former was shot in the abdomen early in the morning of July 20 at Shelbourne Street and Hillside Avenue, gave evidence in court today for the prosecution at the preliminary hearing of Giffred Aastrom, 17 years, St. Joseph's Hospital Farm, West Saanich Road, on a charge of stealing the car. Aastrom was committed for trial in a higher court.

John Birtelsen, 17-year-old Brentwood youth charged with attempted murder of the policeman, appeared in court today also and was remanded until August 6 at the request of counsel.

In the stolen car hearing, the car was identified as that of Edward Mallek, 636 Newport Avenue, stolen from his parking place on Fisgard Street near Douglas Street between 1:10 and 1:40 in the afternoon of July 19.

DROVE TO CHALET

The girl in the witness box told how she, Gil (Giffred Aastrom) and Johnny whose last name she did not know but who was said by Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison to be John Birtelsen, drove to Brentwood in the car, then back to town and later to the Chalet at Deep Cove, and were finally stopped by the policeman at Shelbourne Street and Hillside Avenue.

"Johnny first drove it up to Gil's house. Mrs. Aastrom was on the back steps and Gil said 'Where did you get the car?'" the girl testified.

She said Johnny had told them he got it from in front of the Hudson's Bay Company, and under cross examination by Norman Whittaker, K.C., defence counsel, she said that Johnny had told them it was his father's car when Mrs. Aastrom was present.

"I know that we weren't to go on the main streets but to go to keep to the side roads. I think Johnny said that," she testified.

Asked by Mr. Harrison who was driving the car when that remark was made, she answered: "Jeepers, I don't know. They kept taking turns driving."

In the meantime, Aastrom sitting on the edge of the seat in the prisoner's box, listened intently to the testimony and spoke only when asked by Magistrate H. C. Hall if he wished to say anything before being committed for trial.

"No, Your Honor," he said in a quiet voice.

Indian Exhibition At Little Centre

A collection of Indian handicraft, including basketry and bead-work was displayed at the Little Centre, Yates Street, Monday evening, by the Society for the Furtherance of British Columbian Arts and Crafts.

Andrew Paul, high chief of the Indian Brotherhood of Canada, told the gathering the government should place more emphasis on the education of Indians. Need for better health conditions on the reserves was also stressed by Chief Paul, who has just returned from Ottawa, where he went in connection with the Indian Act.

He pointed out hospitals were being put up to care for Indians with tuberculosis, while the conditions which led to disease on the reserves remained unchanged.

"The Portage" and "The Totems of the Queen Charlotte Islands," both National Film Board releases, were shown.

Hon. Mark Kearley was guest of honor. Anthony Walsh, founder of the society, was chairman, while Mrs. A. J. Tullis directed the program.

Pair Jailed For Stealing From Cars

Sentences of 30 days and 20 days in jail were imposed by Magistrate H. C. Hall in City Police Court today on two men who pleaded guilty to charges of stealing suits, a camera and a pair of binoculars from U.S. tourists' cars.

George Robert King was given the 30-day sentence after the magistrate told him he could not treat his deliberate action lightly but that he would take his previous good character into consideration. Edward William Brown, who received the 20-day penalty, was given the lesser sentence because of his age. He told the court he was 18.

300 Chinese Communists Ambush Convoy, Killing 4 U.S. Marines

PEIPING (AP)—At least four United States marines were killed and 19 wounded, two so seriously they may die, during a four-hour attack by an estimated 300 Chinese Communists on a truck convoy of 100 marines bound for Peiping as replacements.

An undisclosed number of other marines were listed as missing and a search was made for them throughout Monday night and today.

Piece by piece, the story formed today of Monday's incident, which occurred near the village of Holsiwa, 35 miles southeast of Peiping.

Marine sources said the Communists obviously had planned the action and were lying in ambush, hidden in cornfields on both sides of a highway.

Earlier clash. Several possible reasons for the Communist assault were given. Marines said a patrol recently exchanged fire with Communist troops in that area, killing several Chinese, and the Communists near Holsiwa probably were retaliating.

Another source said a U.S. army officer recently was stopped by Communist soldiers while driving through the same area and an incident followed in which a Chinese was shot to death. The report was not confirmed.

The marines said the 300 "leathernecks" from Tientsin, equipped with at least a dozen 105-mm. Howitzers and supported by planes, had been rushed to aid the ambushed convoy.

But other sources said the Communists had retreated before the patrol arrived.

The Marine Corps declined to state officially the number of casualties. It merely stated in a press release that "we had casualties and there were some casualties among the force that attacked us." The release described the assailants as "uninformed armed Chinese estimated to be about 300 men."

(From Shanghai, Associated Press correspondent Spencer Moosa radioed that informed observers were speculating that the incident may have been provoked by the Communists in an attempt to create public sentiment in the United States for immediate withdrawal of all American forces from China.)

SAY 11 KILLED TIENTSIN (AP)—Unconfirmed Chinese reports, treated here with the greatest reserve pending official confirmation, said today that 11 U.S. marines were killed in Monday's clash with Chinese Communists near Yangtsun.

These reports said the clash developed when 30 marines conveying ten trucks of military supplies northward from Tientsin refused to surrender the supplies to 300 Chinese Communist troops.

They added that the fighting continued at least six hours, and that 400 marine reinforcements were rushed from Tientsin.

Plan To Expand Jubilee Hospital Pharmacy Unit

Plans are under way for the expansion of the Jubilee Hospital pharmacy department to make it into an up-to-date central supply unit for all medical and surgical supplies. J. E. Smith, chief pharmacist, said today on his return from Ann Arbor, Mich., where he has been attending a meeting of the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists.

The meeting was attended by 136 hospital pharmacists from all parts of the United States, three being from Canada.

Mr. Smith said he learned many things about the physical set-up of a hospital pharmacy and the Jubilee Hospital would benefit greatly from the new knowledge gained. The present pharmacy has approximately half the space it needs for the services it should be giving the hospital for the most efficient operation, he said.

He had high hopes that the plans for the new central unit, which would control all medical supplies, would be ready for institution within the next year.

Higher efficiency in all hospital operations would be achieved with the new unit, he said, particularly as the manner in which sterile and narcotic solutions could be prepared would assist the nurses greatly.

"This would be of real assistance, in the present nursing shortage crisis," he pointed out, "because a good many of the nurses' working hours are spent in the preparation of such solutions on the ward floors."

Several of the lectures at Ann Arbor were on the preparation and use of penicillin preparations and the new drug, streptomycin which has not yet come on the market in any quantity.

Streptomycin has been used on one or two special cases in Victoria already, Mr. Smith revealed, but it is not yet commercially available and is difficult to obtain.

Family Allowance Payments Higher

An increase in payments for July over June was noted in figures of family allowance payments in British Columbia, released Monday by W. R. Bone, regional director, family allowances branch, Department of National Health and Welfare.

Payments in British Columbia during July totaled $1,263,783 to 109,260 families comprising 208,485 children, an average payment of $11.59 a family.

This represents an increase over the June figure. Payments in that month were $1,247,516 to 205,785 children.

Influx of families from other provinces continued, with a falling off in the number leaving B.C. for elsewhere. In July 668 came to the province, and 298 left. In June corresponding figures were 62 and 536.

$10,000 Alteration At V.M.D. Provides More Berthing Space

A $10,000 construction job is now under way at Victoria Machinery Depot Co., Ltd., No. 2 yard to increase berthing facilities for ships, it was reported today.

T. Moffat, V.M.D. engineer, said new piles were being driven in on the west side of Pier 1, and that new decking was being put on the pier to accommodate a railway for an electric crane. The new crane will probably be a five-ton job.

At present, the dock is capable of accommodating five ships. The alteration will provide facilities for the berthing of six large-type vessels at the pier.

Man Insists Bomb Not Set For Wife

PORTLAND, Ore., (AP)—Detectives questioning James W. Bowden, 47, charged with first degree murder in the dynamite booby-trip death of his comely wife, reported today Bowden insists he rigged the bomb to send "a friend" of his wife.

Bowden still denies that he sought to lure his estranged wife to open the "Pandora Box" of death by warning the family not to tamper with the small trunk, Detective Capt. Eugene Ferguson reported.

The 44-year-old Mrs. Bowden, mother of two teen age girls, was blown to bits Saturday night when she opened the trunk and set off the six sticks of dynamite that detectives said Bowden told of fitting into a small box and rigged with tacks, wire and a small battery.

Mrs. Bowden had filed suit for divorce a month ago, charging her husband with cruelty and asking $100 a month support for her daughters. Bowden later filed an answer denying the charges. Detectives reported Bowden said his wife had been keeping company with other men while he was in the Aleutians on war projects and could not account for money he had sent home from Alaska.

catch consisted of 350 pounds of ling cod, 2,000 pounds of gray cod and 1,000 pounds of sole.

Weather Shrinks Crop $20,000,000

CALGARY (CP)—High temperatures and lack of rain last week cost Alberta farmers some $20,000,000 in wheat returns, the Alberta Wheat Pool reported today. The report indicated the present week would be even more critical.

The prospective wheat yield declined at least two bushels per acre last week, the pool said. On a basis of $1.55 wheat and an acreage of 7,500,000, that means a loss of about $20,000,000.

However, the report stated that if the heat ends immediately coupled with general rainfall, it will still be possible to harvest a better than average crop. Should the weather continue hot and dry the consequences will be disastrous.

"Alberta could still harvest a big crop," says the report, "but rain is urgently needed to prevent future deterioration in the Peace River and southern Alberta, and will be required in all areas to aid filling."

300 Dead In Floods

ISTANBUL (Reuter)—Three hundred persons are feared dead, 500 were injured and thousands made homeless by disastrous flooding after torrential rains in agricultural districts of Amasia and Samsun, near the Black Sea coast of northern Anatolia, it was learned today.

Rivers still were rising everywhere in the region. Floodwaters inundated thousands of acres of fields, destroying the harvest.

Boys' School Bids Total $1,238,226
The Boys' Industrial School, to be erected by the provincial government on the Vipond Farm near Nanaimo, will cost a total of $1,238,226 if the lowest tenders submitted to the works department today are accepted. This is considerably more than the government's estimate of the cost.

Only bid submitted for the general contract was that of Bennett and White Construction Co., Vancouver, $946,939.

Other tenders opened by Finance Minister Herbert Aspin, acting as works minister in the absence of Hon. E. C. Carson, were J. H. McRae & Co., $59,830, Hume & Rumble Ltd., $63,000, and Mott Electric Co., $98,897, for electrical work; Barr & Anderson Ltd., $60,058, and Leek & Co., $61,948, for plumbing, and Leek & Co., $171,399, and Barr & Anderson Ltd., $174,648, for heating and ventilating.

The government had originally planned to erect the multi-building school at Metchosin but changed the site following protests from residents of that area.

Navy Issues Warning Of Floating Mines

Following reports of two mines floating in the sea off Cape Beale on the west coast of Vancouver Island, naval officials today issued a warning to coast residents and mariners against the danger of explosives still floating in coastal waters.

The motor vessel Kuitan, which was dispatched from Esquimalt with a navy mine disposal squad is still searching for the two mines reported by the fishing vessel Seabeam, Sunday.

The U.S. 13th naval district has also issued a warning to residents along the Washington and Oregon coasts that explosives are being washed ashore, including Jap mines.

Persons sighting these objects are warned not to touch, tamper or remove them, but to inform naval or B.C. police authorities. "Serious or fatal injury may result from tampering with these objects," the warning says.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Senator Claghorn of radio fame wants you all to know he is happy to be in southern, I say southern—California.

The senator, alias radio announcer Kenny Delmar, has arrived on the Southern Pacific and a cloud of mint julep to appear in a picture, called "It's a Joke, Son."

This is Delmar's second trip to California. Seventeen years ago he landed in San Diego, where he was bell captain in a hotel.

Because of all the ribbing he receives, I asked the Bostonian if he ever regretted dreaming up the senator.

"No, the old boy has done right by me," he said, "and I am very fond of him. But not my wife and son, Kenny—they hate him."

Boy Who Quizzed Police Identified

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A five-year-old "Quiz kid" here, who answered a policeman's questions with scores of questions of his own was identified by his grandmother 20 hours after he had been found riding a tricycle in the street. "He's always running away," Mrs. Helen Fowler, the grandmother, told police. "People treat him so nicely when they find him—that's why he does it," she said. Every time the youngster had been asked, "What's your name?" the boy replied "What's yours?" What is his name? Paul Rider, the grandmother said.

Hindus Startled By Gandhi's Advice

BOMBAY (AP)—Mohandas Gandhi, apostle of non-violence, has startled millions of Hindus with a pronouncement that it is neither sacrilegious nor contrary to his theory of non-violence to kill monkeys which destroy crops. Countless generations of pious Hindus have revered monkeys as descendants of Hanuman, the God of Strength, and patiently have endured their destructive raids on growing crops, considering it sinful to raise a violent hand against the marauders. A correspondent precipitated the statement with a remark that his uncle kept monkeys out of his fields at night by stringing up electric lights to frighten them.

Gandhi followed with an article in his weekly newspaper, the Harijan, saying the electric lighting plan would enable the farmer who could afford the equipment to save his crops at expense of less prosperous neighbors, who would have all the more monkeys with which to cope.

"If we must save society as well as ourselves from the mischief of monkeys and the like," he said, "we have to kill them." The veneration of monkeys has been closely interwoven with the Hindu religion for so long that it generally is believed it will be long before there is any noticeable increase in the killing of them, despite the word of such an honored man as Gandhi.

Shipyard Workers Postpone Strike Hour

VANCOUVER (CP)—Strike deadline of noon Wednesday of shipyard workers in Vancouver was lifted "for at least 48 hours," in view of a new negotiating meeting scheduled for Thursday. Marine Workers' and Boilermakers' Industrial Union (C.I.U.) officials, whose members are affected, agreed to the temporary measure in order to co-ordinate their action with other unions involved, said Malcolm MacLeod, chairman of the negotiating committee for the shipyard unions' conference. Mr. MacLeod said the Thursday meeting will deal with the union demands for double time for Saturday afternoon work and the 85 cents an hour wage rate minimum, both of which were rejected earlier by the operators. Agreement has been

Operators Reject Interim Plan

VANCOUVER (CP)—Negotiations for settlement of the 74-day-old strike in Vancouver, involving 500 workers, collapsed late Monday when the operators rejected federal negotiator Judge David Whiteside's interim proposals. Previously, union officials had announced acceptance of the proposals and were prepared to return to work today, but with the operators' rejection, the men will continue on strike.

Judge Whiteside recommended return to work on the basis of an immediate 10 cents an hour pay increase, pending a final report on the dispute. It was understood that provincial cabinet intervention will be sought to end the dispute. The cabinet may be asked to "act in this case as they did in the I.W.A. dispute when they recommended acceptance of a commissioner's report."
